
This policy statement was approved by the Academic Senate on 10/13/2022
and approved by the President on 10/24/2022.

California State University Long Beach is committed to compliance with all U.S. government export control laws, guidance, and regulations. When faculty, staff, and/or students look to collaborate internationally or with foreign nationals within the U.S. or abroad, individuals must consider and ensure their compliance with the Export Control Regulations of the United States, as defined below.

The three main export regulations are (1) the International Traffic in Arms Regulations (ITAR) administered and enforced by the Department of _____ of _____ – Anyone who is (1) not a U.S. citizen, or (2) not a lawful permanent resident of the U.S., or who does not have refugee or asylum status in the U.S. Any foreign corporation, business association, partnership, trust, relevant to academic research. Note that not every exemption applies to every source of export controls laws or regulations. Accordingly, it is necessary to analyze each specific export control regime that governs a given transaction or issue in order to determine the extent to which a particular exemption may be apply.

Fundamental Research

The Fundamental Research Exclusion covers scientific research that results in publications and open dissemination of research results, as is typically found in academic research. If the information to conduct research is in the public domain and the results of the research are publishable, the research is covered by the Fundamental Research Exclusion. However, all California State University Long Beach faculty, staff, students, visitors, volunteers, and guests engaged in research and research administration involving contact with foreign nationals must be aware of the potential applicability of federal laws and regulations on export controls and recognize when an export license may be required. (EAR 15 C.F.R. 734.8(a), (b); ITAR 22 C.F.R. 120.11(a)(8))

Educational Information

Educational information may be exported or “deemed” exported without an export license during instruction in courses regularly offered by universities. This exemption includes instruction in science, math and engineering concepts taught in courses listed in the university’s catalogue and associated teaching laboratories, even if the information concerns export controlled commodities or items. (EAR 15 C.F.R. 734.3(b)(3)(iii), 734.9; ITAR 22 C.F.R. 120.10(5))

Public Domain

Information that is published and generally accessible or available to the public through sales at bookstores or newsstands, subscriptions, libraries, patents available at any patent office, conferences, meetings, seminars or trade shows, or through fundamental research. (EAR 15 C.F.R. 734.3(b)(3), 734.7-734.10; ITAR 22 C.F.R. 120.10(a)(5), 120.11, 125.1(b), 125.4)

There are also some special exceptions to the export license regulations. These include shipments of limited value, gifts, and humanitarian donations. (15 C.F.R. 740)

California State University Long Beach must comply with all applicable export control laws and will assist its individuals with export control compliance, including pursuing licenses from U.S. Government agencies, where appropriate. However, each individual engaging in any activity subject to U.S. export control bears direct responsibility for export control regulatory compliance, as they are the most informed about the details of their own respective activity(ies), are obligated to familiarize themselves with U.S. export control laws and regulations, and can be subject to personal penalties for export violations. Individuals engaged in activities subject to U.S. export control are therefore required to consult with the Export Control Officer when necessary.
