

Harassment on Campus: A Quick Guide to Respond

Being a member of the Beach community means that you may come across things on campus or the internet and social media which you don't agree with – or that specifically targets you, a group of individuals, or an ideology. The University makes every effort to make sure all students, staff, faculty, and guests are treated fairly. In that spirit, this guide has, staff, offices:

Office of Student Conduct and Ethical Development
USU – 238 / (562) 985-5270
http://web.csulb.edu/divisions/students/judicial_affairs/
Office of Equity and Diversity
Foundation – 120 / (562) 985-8256
<https://web.csulb.edu/gobeach/depts/oed/>

For issues related to the posting of materials

Tips for students, staff, and faculty

1.

rsity-police

An anonymous crime tip can be submitted by following the link on the right side of the webpage.
Internet Crime Complaint Center (IC3)
<https://www.ic3.gov/default.aspx>