

DELLER

DELLER

David Guirgus and William C. Pedersen PhD
Department of Psychology

INTRODUCTION

- Defined as being ostracized or rejected by others (Wesselmann & Williams, 2017)
  - Excluded individuals reflect on the meaning of the ostracism experience which can result in sadness, anger, and aggression (Williams, 2011, p. 71)
  - It has also been shown to increase social distress (Padro et al., 2009) and social pain (Van Baaren et al., 2011)
-
- Defined as a predisposition toward planned reactions to internal and external stimuli with regard to the negative consequences to others (Levinson, Harlow, Stanford, & Harlow, 2010)
  - Impulsiveness is linked to many self-destructive behaviors such as substance abuse, depression and suicidal behaviors (Barballo, 2004)
-
- Social condition is expected to moderate the effect of impulsivity on social pain (Specifically, impulsivity is

RESULTS